[] Compliance with State Requirement [] Professional Development Opportunity [X] Informational

Dear Early Education Community:

The Early Learning Coalition is working closely with the Department of Children and Families to identify which provider locations are open and available to serve children and families.

The Department of Children and Families licensing staff are making calls to providers to assess their ability to reopen.

The Early Learning Coalition is providing a listing of programs that are open on its website. In order to make sure that your program is listed and parents are able to identify that a provider is open, we are asking those providers whose programs are available to serve children, to send your information to info@elcmdm.org

Please include:

- Program name and address
- The date that program will open

We are frequently updating the list on our website and will include your information once it is received.

Dear CCR&R coordinator, While Hurricane Irma has left our state, the storm left many families you serve feeling anxious, worried, dealing with loss, and more. You may be dealing with some of this yourself. Here are some resources you can share with your families and others who may turn to you

Resources for Coping with Hurricanes

The CCR&R Dropbox has resources for emergency preparedness and resources for after the storm.

Coalitions can also find resources in the Coalitions Zone of OEL's SharePoint. Once in SharePoint, use the following navigation to get to the resources:

- Coalitions Zone >>> CCR&R, VPK & School Readiness >>> Consumer Education and Family Resources >>> Emergency Preparedness for families and providers
- Coalitions Zone >>> CCR&R, VPK & School Readiness >>> Consumer Education and Family Resources >>> Emergency Preparedness for families and providers

The Office of Early Learning has a special Hurricane Irma webpage and a Pinterest board with lots of pins to resources for families and child care providers.
